Pilot Pacific Opens New Office in Penticton, BC

Pilot Pacific Developments Inc. announces that it has opened an office at 3547 Skaha Lake Road in Penticton, BC. “We are looking at working in Penticton over the next 20 years,” Jake Bergen, the president of Pilot Pacific stated. “The diversified economy here augmented by tourism and the wine industry make Penticton a great place to live and work. As more people discover just how great it is, we expect the need for housing to increase dramatically.”

Bergen and Pilot Pacific have a substantial pedigree in real estate development and management. Having developed over 10 million square feet of residential, industrial, commercial and recreational property over 35 years, Bergen is well versed in all aspects of the real estate industry. Based in Vancouver, BC, Bergen has overseen projects across Western Canada and internationally.

Pilot Pacific has a number of development opportunities in mind for Penticton, and is on the lookout for more. “We’re convinced that Penticton is the place we want to be,” Bergen says. “We look forward to a long and mutually beneficial relationship with this community.”
